

An Ode to Forgotten Memories: Illuminating Dementia's Veil

It is rightly said, 'At the end of the day, we're all just walking each other home.' Here's a short poem about dementia, a significant disease that all neurologists encounter on a daily or weekly basis. Dementia is defined as a neurocognitive decline...